THE FAIR A SUCCESS.

Good Crowds, Fine Show of Stock and Propitious Weather.

Everything Went Lovely and the Goose Honked High.

The fourth annual exhibition of the Lincoln County Fair Association is a memory and a very pleasant one. It is notwithstanding the backwardness of the farmers in their work, big crowds attended Thursday and Friday and the association ought to be able to declare a small dividend. However, the bills have not all come in and the officers can not state positively what they will do. While at some of the other fairs their might have been a greater quantity of stock, certainly the quality this year was the best in the history of the association. The mule rings were well filled with the best in the country, the roadster premiums were hotly contested for and only one ring failed to fill. The fair was a veritable feast for the lovers of good horse stock and a pleasure to all. It was a fine exhibition from first to last and the gentlemen in charge have a right to feel good over their success. Following are the awards of Thursday and Friday:
